an electrical signal to the element, and an insulating film. The method also includes transferring the element layer from the insulating substrate to a substrate, transferring the element layer to a sheet, and dividing the element layer into at least one integrated circuit film.

As described above, neither Sayyah, Ding, nor any proper combination of the references, describes or suggests dividing the element layer into at least one integrated circuit film or a crystalline semiconductor film, as recited in claim 29. Accordingly, for at least these reasons, applicant submits that claim 29 and its dependent claims 30 and 31 are allowable.

Conclusion

Applicant submits that all claims are in condition for allowance.

It is believed that all of the pending issues have been addressed. However, the absence of a reply to a specific rejection, issue or comment does not signify agreement with or concession of that rejection, issue or comment. In addition, because the arguments made above may not be exhaustive, there may be reasons for patentability of any or all pending claims (or other claims) that have not been expressed. Finally, nothing in this reply should be construed as an intent to concede any issue with regard to any claim, except as specifically stated in this reply, and the amendment of any claim does not necessarily signify concession of unpatentability of the claim prior to its amendment.

Enclosed is a check in the amount of $300.00 for excess claim fees. Please apply any other charges or credits to deposit account 06-1050.

Respectfully submitted,
